HAGERSTOWN AND VALLEY OF VIRGINIA RAILROAD.—The engineers of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad are now busy engaged in runing an experimental line for a railroad from Williamsport, Md., through Martinaburg, to the Frederick line, near Bunker Hill, and nine or ten miles from Winchester. A charter for this road was granted at the recent session of the West Virginia Legislature. It is to connect at Williamsport with a road being built from that place to Hagerstown, and is intended as a feeder to the great Pennsylvania Central. There is but little doubt that a charter will be granted for the construction of the road to Winchester, at which point it is supposed it will stretch its arm Westward, by assisting in the completion of the Alexandria, Loudoun & Hampshire road, to the coal fields of Hampshire.—Shepardstown Register.

When the upper floor fell the body of the child was discovered lying on the bed, hurned to a crisp. Several gentlemen immediately rushed into the fire and rescued it.
